Gargantua

© Design by Dirk Wynants for Extremis, 1994

Back in 1994, Dirk Wynants wanted to create a table where children could comfortably sit at the same height as the adults to enable better communication. He created the perfect family table, ready to withstand the elements, and at the same time a true design icon.

Private residence
Antwerp, Belgium

The owners of this garden in Moorsele, Belgium, testify, "the Gargantua table is the center of the festivities at every gathering. Whether we just want to enjoy the garden with our family or we invite 12 people, the picnic table attracts everyone, young and old, even up to four generations at a time, like a magnet.

This gorgeous poolhouse is not just a place to dry off after a dip in the water. Inside there's a beautiful kitchen (with bar!) where the home owner shows off his culinary skills and creates al fresco dinners to remember. The iconic Gargantua in galvanized steel is the perfect spot to dine in the shade of the covered terrace. The aged wood, clean lines and functional design of the picnic table complements the sleek silhouette of this modern and airy poolhouse.

Aging gracefully is not only a matter of design, but also of material choice. The galvanized legs prove to be a super durable material that never rusts, while the exposure to sun and rain has caused the wooden tabletop and benches to receive a grayish tone that now perfectly suit the weathered floor.

Een zwemmer is een ruiter

Zwemmen is losbandig, stajen in spartelend water is liefhebben met elke nog bruilbare porie is eindeloos vrij zijn en inwendig zegevieren

En zwemmen is de eenzaamheid belasten met vingers is met armen en benen aloude geheimen vertellen aan het, altijd alles begrijpen de water

Ik moet bekennen dat ik gek ben van water.
Want in het water adem ik water.
Ward ik een schepper die zijn schepping omhelst en in het water kan men nooit geheel alleen zijn en toch nog eenzaam blijven.
Zwemmen is een beetje bijna heilig zijn.
